MONTHLY OBJECTIVES

English Language arts (ELA): Students will begin practicing cause and effect and determining importance of events with true stories. We will also be practicing rhyming words, diagraphs including: -sh, -ck + -ch, the blend -th, and the Short a, e + o sound. New High Frequency Words: there they that all some good what could would look from find them then play lay give him your. High Frequency Words Review: see me is for a A the The at an I you am Can be he she we likes like are and but us up not on down big little it in go with come said to want as has have had here help helps was will do away her his says into get gets Math: The students will develop understanding of addition and subtraction situations by modeling practical situations. They also use concrete and pictorial models to solve addition and subtraction story problems.

Science: Students will explore how natural resources are used every day and how those resources may be preserved and managed wisely.

Social Studies: Students will study the basic features of an economy (concepts of scarcity and choice) and the world of work. Students will also study the earth and us relationships between people and their environment. The students will identify certain characteristics of places on Earth.

Class Notes

Just a reminder: If your child is being picked up by someone without your child's name card, please send a note in the blue folder.

Our class still needs snack provided for the following weeks: February 3-7, February 17-21, February 24-28, March 24-28, March 31-April 4, April 7-11, April 21-25. Please send a note in your child's blue folder for when you are willing to provide snack. THANK YOU!

Information on Academic Field Day and our historical figures in black history project (research will be done are school and completed project for show and tell) are forthcoming.

Please be advised we are not allowed to bring Valentine's Candy or cards this year instead we will make special cards in class for each other we will also have a few fun activities planned throughout the day to make it enjoyable.
